This report is for reflection, self-exploration and entertainment. It describes tendencies drawn from astrological and numerological tradition applied to real calculations of your birth details — never certainties, and never a substitute for professional advice. Your birth data is used only to generate this report.

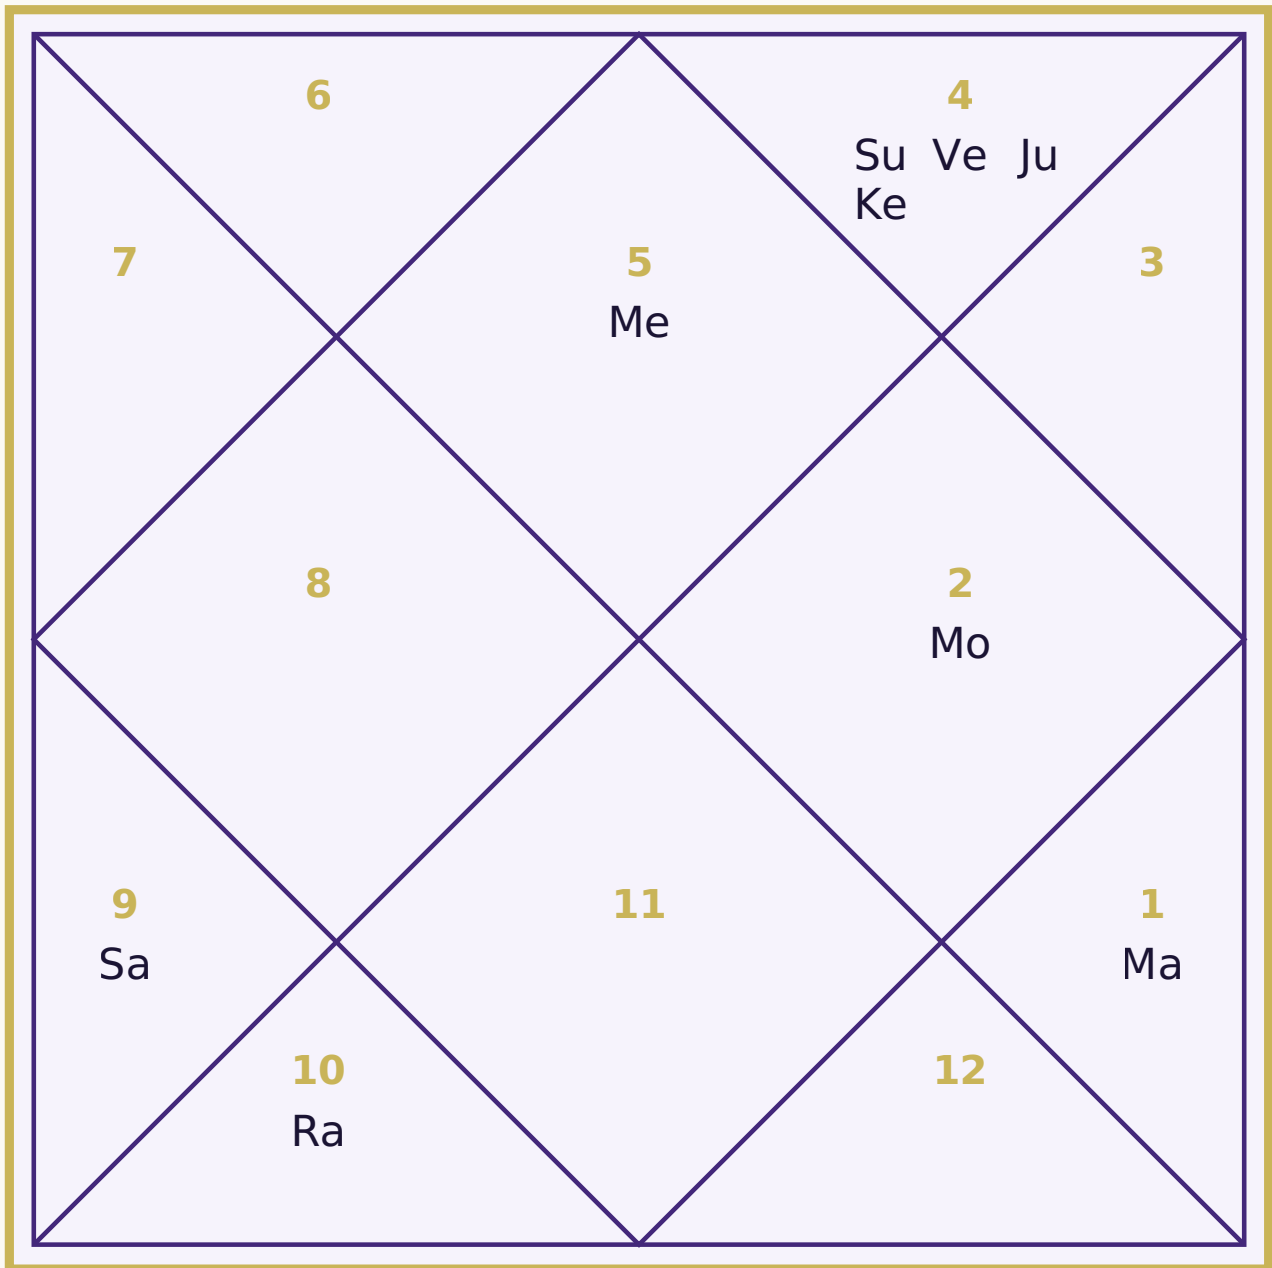

01 How to Read This Report

You don't need to know any astrology to read this report. A birth chart is a snapshot of the sky at the moment and place you were born: which zodiac sign each planet occupied, and which part of the sky (called a 'house') it sat in from your birthplace's point of view. Astrologers read planets as functions (how you love, think, act), signs as styles (how that function expresses itself), and houses as arenas (where in life it plays out). Everything that follows was calculated individually from your birth details — this is your sky, not a generic horoscope.

03 Your Vedic Birth Chart

North-Indian style chart (lagna kundali)

Reading Your Vedic Chart

Vedic astrology — Jyotish, 'the science of light' — uses the sidereal zodiac, anchored to the actual positions of the stars rather than the seasons. This report uses the Lahiri ayanamsa, the standard correction used across India, which is why your Vedic placements may differ from the Western signs you know. Neither system is 'wrong' — they measure from different starting points. Jyotish adds two lenses Western astrology doesn't use: your nakshatra (birth star), a finer 27-fold division of the sky, and the dasha system, a timeline of planetary periods that describes which themes are foregrounded in different chapters of life.

Your Birth Star — Rohini

Your janma nakshatra — the lunar mansion occupied by the Moon at your birth — is considered by many Jyotish practitioners to be more personally descriptive than the sun sign. There are 27 nakshatras, each spanning 13°20' of the sky, each with its own symbol, ruling deity, and temperament.

Yours is Rohini — symbol: a chariot, or the red star Aldebaran; ruled by Moon; pada 2.

Rohini is the Moon's favorite residence — the nakshatra of growth, beauty, and fertile ground. People born under it often have natural magnetism and a gift for making things flourish: gardens, businesses, families, rooms. The temperament is sensual, steady, and quietly determined. Material life tends to matter and tends to respond. Its lesson is holding abundance lightly — attachment to comfort can root you in soil you've outgrown.

Your Current Chapter — Jupiter Mahadasha (until 2036-09)

The Vimshottari dasha system divides life into planetary chapters — major periods (mahadashas) ruled by each of the nine grahas, in a fixed sequence totalling 120 years, with your starting point set by the Moon's position at birth. A dasha doesn't make events happen; Jyotish reads it as which themes are foregrounded — which teacher is at the front of the classroom in this chapter of your life.

A Jupiter mahadasha foregrounds growth, wisdom, and fortune-through-alignment. This chapter tends to expand whatever you sincerely invest in: learning, teaching, family, faith, long-term ventures. Mentors and opportunities appear more readily. It rewards generosity and principled choices; its subtle trap is complacency — Jupiter's ease can make effort feel optional. Classical counsel: in the season of favor, plant heavily.

Your full mahadasha timeline:

Moon: 1990-08 → 1995-09

Mars: 1995-09 → 2002-09

Rahu: 2002-09 → 2020-09

► Jupiter: 2020-09 → 2036-09

Saturn: 2036-09 → 2055-09

Mercury: 2055-09 → 2072-09

Ketu: 2072-09 → 2079-09

Venus: 2079-09 → 2099-09

Sun: 2099-09 → 2105-09

The Chapter After — Saturn Mahadasha (from 2036-09)

For orientation, here is the chapter that follows your current one. A Saturn mahadasha foregrounds structure, endurance, and the long game. This chapter tends to slow things down and test foundations — what's solid consolidates, what's hollow is revealed. Responsibility increases; shortcuts stop working. It is, by tradition, the great maturer: people often emerge from Saturn periods with their most durable achievements and their clearest sense of what actually matters. The counsel is simple: do the work, keep your word, rest properly. Knowing what's next isn't about bracing for it — it's about finishing the current chapter's work so the next one starts on solid ground.

Your Rising Sign — Leo

With Leo rising, you have presence whether you asked for it or not. The first impression is warmth, confidence, and a certain polish — people assume you're in charge, or should be. Your instinctive approach to life is to bring the energy up and take responsibility for the room. The gift is charisma; the tax is that your off-days are more visible than other people's.

Your Sun — Cancer

Your Sun in Cancer describes an identity rooted in care and memory. You register emotional undercurrents that others miss, and belonging matters to you more than status. People with this placement often build the environments — homes, teams, friendships — that everyone else depends on. The edge: sensitivity can turn into self-protection that reads as withdrawal. Your strength shows when you care openly rather than from behind a shell.

Your Moon — Taurus

The Moon in Taurus is one of the steadiest emotional placements. You settle rooms just by being in them. Your feelings move slowly and honestly — you don't manufacture drama, and you don't recover from broken trust quickly either. What steadies you is the physical world: good food, familiar places, routines that don't change. Under stress, your instinct is to hold still; sometimes that's wisdom, sometimes it's just inertia. Knowing which is the skill.

04 House by House (Whole Sign)

1st House — Self & Presence

This house governs identity, appearance, and how you begin things — the front door of the chart. The sign on this house's cusp is Leo, so this arena of your life tends to run in a Leo style — expressed warmly and visibly — with generosity, pride, and a need for the effort to be seen and appreciated. In your chart it holds Mercury — this is an active arena for you, energized by the themes of that planet described above. Expect this part of life to demand — and reward — more of your attention than average.

2nd House — Resources & Worth

The sign on this house's cusp is Virgo, so this arena of your life tends to run in a Virgo style — expressed precisely and helpfully — through analysis, craft, and steady improvement of whatever it touches. No planets occupy it in your chart — which doesn't mean the area is empty in your life, only that it runs quietly on that cusp-sign style rather than being a major center of gravity.

3rd House — Mind & Neighborhood

The sign on this house's cusp is Libra, so this arena of your life tends to run in a Libra style — expressed relationally and gracefully — tuned to fairness, partnership, and keeping things in proportion. 12th House — Interior & Release

This house governs solitude, the subconscious, rest, endings, and what works behind the scenes of your life. The sign on this house's cusp is Cancer, so this arena of your life tends to run in a Cancer style — expressed protectively and intuitively — led by feeling and memory, strongest when there's something to care for. 05 Your Numbers — Numerological Analysis

Mulank 6 — Your Psychic Number

Your Mulank (psychic number) comes from your day of birth. It describes how you see yourself — your instinctive nature, the you that shows up before thinking.

Yours is 6, Venus's number — love, beauty, and responsibility for others. Sixes create harmony, host, heal rifts, and attract comfort. People trust them instinctively with what matters. The watch-out is over-giving, then quietly resenting it.

Bhagyank 6 — Your Destiny Number

Your Bhagyank (destiny number) comes from your complete date of birth. It describes the road: the themes, lessons and opportunities life keeps arranging for you.

Yours is 6, Venus's number — love, beauty, and responsibility for others. Sixes create harmony, host, heal rifts, and attract comfort. People trust them instinctively with what matters. The watch-out is over-giving, then quietly resenting it.

The 6–6 Combination

Read together, your Mulank 6 (Venus) and Bhagyank 6 (Venus) form the core dialogue of your numbers: how you instinctively act, versus what life keeps asking of you. These two numbers are natural allies — your instincts and your life-path pull in the same direction, which usually shows as decisions that 'click' once you stop second-guessing them.

Name Number 2

Your name number comes from the Chaldean value of the name you actually use. It colours how the world receives you — your public frequency.

Yours is 2, the Moon's number — sensitivity, diplomacy, and imagination. Twos read moods with uncanny accuracy and hold relationships together quietly. Their strength looks soft but isn't: patience, timing, and emotional intelligence. The watch-out is absorbing everyone's weather and calling it their own.

Your name number sits in mild tension with your birth numbers. Nothing alarming — many successful people have this — but if you ever use a short form or pen name, one aligned with your Mulank's friend numbers (1, 4, 5, 6, 7) is the traditional preference.

Soul Urge 4 · Personality 7

Your soul urge number (vowels of your name) is what quietly motivates you beneath every goal: Rahu's number — the unconventional builder. Fours think differently, question rules, and often live lives with sudden turns that end up making sense only in hindsight. They are grounded, hardworking, and quietly rebellious. The watch-out is stubbornness and a tendency to expect the worst.

Your personality number (consonants) is the first impression you give before people know you: Ketu's number — depth, intuition, and the researcher's mind. Sevens are curious, spiritually inclined, and see through surfaces; they need solitude the way others need company. The watch-out is distance — seeming unreachable to the very people who love them.

06 Your Lo Shu Fortune Grid

The Lo Shu grid maps the digits of your birth date (plus your core numbers) onto the ancient 3×3 magic square. Repeated numbers show concentrated strengths; missing numbers show qualities that develop through conscious practice rather than instinct.

— Wood	9 9 Fire	— Earth
— Wood	5 Earth	— Metal
8 8 Earth	1 1 Water	6 6 Metal

Your Lo Shu grid — numbers present in your birth data, with their classical elements

Concentrated numbers

In your grid: 1 appears 2×; 6 appears 2×; 8 appears 2×; 9 appears 2×. Repetition amplifies a number's qualities — review the essences above for your repeated numbers; they act as double-strength traits.

Missing numbers — and what to do about them

Missing 2 (Moon): emotional expression may need deliberate effort. Naming feelings out loud — even clumsily — builds the muscle this grid runs light on.

Missing 3 (Jupiter): guidance and mentorship may feel scarce. Actively seek teachers and be one — teaching others is the classical remedy for a missing 3.

Missing 4 (Rahu): structure and routine don't come pre-installed. External systems — lists, fixed hours, one place for everything — return outsized dividends.

Missing 7 (Ketu): stillness and reflection must be chosen deliberately. Ten quiet minutes daily does for you what an hour does for others.

Practitioners also read the grid's rows and columns as 'planes' — mind (4-9-2), emotion (3-5-7) and practicality (8-1-6). Where your digits cluster shows where your energy naturally pools; where they're sparse shows what benefits from conscious practice.

08 Month by Month — Your Next 12 Months

This section maps your coming twelve months through two independent lenses at once: your numerology personal-month cycle (a 1–9 rhythm personal to your birth date) and the real transits of Jupiter and Saturn — the two slow planets classical astrology weights most — measured from your natal Moon. Read each month as weather guidance: what the month favours, what it resists, and how to work with it. Nothing here is a prediction of events; it is timing intelligence.

Backdrop for the whole year: you are in a Jupiter mahadasha — reread that chapter's description; every month below plays out against it.

July 2026 · FOUNDATION WORK (PERSONAL MONTH 4)

Favours: discipline paying off, systems clicking into place, practical progress.

Resists: feeling boxed in, all effort and no applause.

♦ Do the unglamorous work: paperwork, health routines, budgets, repairs. What you organize now supports the whole year.

Sky context: Jupiter transits your 3rd house from the Moon — expansion this month works quietly rather than loudly; growth comes through consolidation, not leaps. Saturn transits your 12th house from the Moon — Saturn asks for patience here; keep commitments modest, honour routines, and let slow be smooth. You are in a Sade Sati window (Saturn near your natal Moon). Tradition reads this not as bad luck but as a maturing pressure: simplify, keep your word, protect rest, and this period becomes a forge rather than a burden.

09 Your Focus Areas

Focus: Personality

You asked this report to focus on personality — the architecture of who you are. The placements below are the load-bearing walls.

Your outer layer is Leo rising, your core is a Cancer Sun, and your emotional engine is a Taurus Moon. Read together: the world first meets the Leo in you, is then held (or challenged) by the Cancer underneath, and the private weather is Taurus. When these three feel at odds, it isn't inconsistency — it's layering, and self-knowledge is mostly learning which layer is speaking.

Focus: Love

You asked this report to focus on love and relationships. In a birth chart that story is told mainly by Venus, the Moon, and the 7th house — here's what yours say.

Venus governs how you love and what you value — your style of affection, pleasure, and aesthetics. In Cancer, this is expressed protectively and intuitively — led by feeling and memory, strongest when there's something to care for. Placed in your 12th house (Interior & Release), it works quietly behind the scenes, in solitude, rest, and the inner life.

Your Moon in Taurus sets what you need to feel emotionally safe with a partner — reread that section with relationships in mind.

Your 7th house of partnership holds no planets — partnership in your chart is shaped more by who you choose than by heavy internal weather, which is quieter but also freer.

Focus: Career

You asked this report to focus on career and direction. The chart's career signature lives mainly in the 10th house, Saturn, Mars, and the Sun — here's yours.

Your 10th house of career holds Moon — public work is a major center of gravity in this chart, and those planets' themes (see their sections) describe the flavor of work that will feel like yours.

Saturn — where you meet discipline — sits in Sagittarius in your 5th house: effort invested there compounds more slowly but more durably than anywhere else in your chart. Mars in Aries describes your working drive: expressed directly and at speed — instinct first, refinement later, with real courage when it counts.

A Closing Word

A birth chart isn't a verdict, and nothing in this report is a prediction. Think of it as a well-made map of tendencies: where your energy flows easily, where it snags, and which efforts are likely to compound. Maps don't walk the road. You do. Use what resonated, test it against your lived experience, and discard anything that doesn't survive contact with your actual life — that's not a failure of the chart, it's you outgrowing a pattern, which is the point.
